Through unintentional error the Irvington Junior Chamber of Commerce was credited in these columns on August 12 with sponsorship of the project to issue $52,000 in bonds for supplementing a WPA grant of $34,364 to build a new Irvington Grammar School edifice, which bond election was held on August 13.

At no time did the chamber of commerce, as a body, go on record as actively sponsoring the bond issue proposition.

Christmas services in the new Congregational Church became nearer an actuality this week with letting of a contract for the beautiful Spanish-type structure.

Within 10 days, out of the ashes of the old, the new will begin to arise to stand as a monument to the courage of the membership of today and the faith of a cooperating community.

Just a short three months ago the band of the Southern Alameda County Musical Association held its first rehearsal; 10 days later, the chorus and orchestra met fortnightly for the first time.

Have you heard either?

The musical association, serving a community of 50,000 population, is well on the way to its goal of a concert band of 100 players; an excellent symphony orchestra and a great chorus of 500 voices.

The membership list is open. All music lovers, whether or not they play or sing, and all public spirited citizens can have a part in this movement which is destined to bring many hours of enjoyment to the people of the southern part of the county. The membership fee is nominal; the returns unmeasurable in genuine and lasting happiness.

Latter Day Saints Beautify Grounds For Encampments

IRVINGTON—Officers of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints which held its annual encampment at Irvington recently are announced as follows by Bishop E. C. Burdick of Sacramento:

District president assistants, Will E. Collins of El Cerrito, Laurence MacDonald of Sacramento and Emory Jennings of Berkeley; supervisor of religious education, Myhron Schall of Sacramento; supervisor of music, Mrs. Birdie Clark of Sacramento; supervisor of women, Mrs. Julia Christensen, Berkeley; Zions League leader, Glenn Jacobeen, Berkeley; district secretary, Miss Zelma McKee, Berkeley; district treasurer, Bishop Burdick; district auditor, Melvin Howe of Sacramento; historian, Mrs. Grace Reel of Modesto.

Plans are underway to beautify the grounds at Irvington and to remodel buildings. Fifty shade trees have already been planted and other plantings will be made as soon as weather permits, according to word received here from Bishop Burdick.

Rumors that the Irvington site was to be abandoned in view of a new church in Hayward grew out of a similarity of names of two organizations, Bishop Burdick says.

The Hayward church is known as the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints with headquarters at Salt Lake City and commonly known as Mormons. The Irvington group has its headquarters at Independence, Mo., and is known as the church of the Josephites named from the founder, Joseph Smith, who established the church in 1830.

Construction Will Start In Two Weeks On New Niles Church

NILES—E. E. Dias of Niles was awarded the contract for building the new Congregational Church at a meeting of the trustees at the Hoel Belvoir Tuesday night. Construction will start within two weeks and it is hoped that Christmas services can be held in the new building.

Dias' bid was $16,030. The plans, drawn by George P. Simonds, Hayward architect, call for a building of Spanish design. It consists of three wings, the church proper which will seat about 120 persons, separated by patios from the five-room parsonage and the Sunday School quarters. The social hall will be omitted for the present but plans call for its addition later.

The project is being financed by a $13,000 insurance policy on the old building and approximately $5,000 in popular subscriptions. Trustees express their thanks to these people for their expression of community cooperation.

Ask Taxpayers To Suggest Action On Condemned School

IRVINGTON — Taxpayers of Irvington are asked to meet at the Irvington Grammar School on Thursday night, September 1, to discuss what steps should be taken regarding the present school building which has been condemned by state architects. The meeting is called by the board of trustees following recent defeat of a bond issue for a new school.

Representatives of the state architects' office at Sacramento visited the school last Friday and after examination said that the opiinng given in 1936 that the school was unsafe still held and that the "building is no younger." He said he thought it improbable that any reliable insurance company would issue liability policies on the school.

The purpose of next Thursday's meeting is to secure an opinion from the taxpayers as to whether they wish to repair and make safe the present building or to provide in some way for a new building.

SCHOOLDAYS BEGIN!

Schoolbells again ring out across California!

To harried mothers their chime is glad tidings, but to carefree youngsters their sound spells the end of easy-going hours filled with adventurous fun.

Youth is oftentimes a rebel, but seldom more so than when he kicks his heels against that first plunge into the three R's.

Yet the healthy discipline of the classroom, new playmates, and new tasks to master in readin', writin', and 'rithmetic, help to tame the rebellious spirits speedily—until another summer, and another call to the classroom rolls around!

Every school-going youngster, whether he or she knows it or not, is a partner in a serious and significant business. In a few years'time, he and his classmates will be running this state and this nation of ours, helping shape and direct the destiny of America, economically, politically, and socially.

The job of building character and brains, and stimulating imagination and wholesome skepticism, is a mutual one where neither parents, schools, or teachers, dare safely shirk their equal obligations to the youth of today—the makers of tomorrow's world.

That high task again resumes this month as schoolbells ring out and an army of young Californians, one million strong, answers its call!
